

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Wingspan Technology Introduces DocWay Virtual Folders

DocWay Virtual Folders provides EMC Documentum users the ability to create their own folder structures, hierarchies, and views

BLUE BELL, PA – May 12, 2009 – Wingspan Technology, Inc., the leading provider of Documentum to SharePoint integration tools, released DocWay Virtual Folders today. DocWay Virtual Folders is an add-on component to Wingspan’s DocWay Web Parts for SharePoint and provides EMC Documentum users the ability to create their own folder structures, hierarchies, and views based on the attributes of stored documents.

DocWay Virtual Folders enables users of Wingspan’s DocWay Web Parts for SharePoint to store and view their documents according to their own ideas, rather than relying on the cabinet and folder rules defined by EMC Documentum.

Additionally, DocWay Virtual Folders enables DocWay Web Parts and Documentum users to define document hierarchies based on document attributes, instead of folder locations, and allows users to sort and store documents by year, year-month, or year-month-day. Virtual Folder definitions are stored as Documentum objects, and the folder definitions can be shared with all DocWay Web Parts users or can be kept private so that they are seen only by the creator.

Wingspan Technology Principal Troy Deck believes DocWay Virtual Folders provides needed functionality that enhances the user experience for DocWay Web Parts and Documentum customers. Deck says, “Virtual Folders enables a personalized, faceted, navigational view to your Documentum repository that is not only easy to use, but in keeping with the DocWay tradition, very fast. We are excited by the current client response we are seeing towards Virtual Folders.”

###

About Wingspan Technology

Founded in 1996, Wingspan Technology has been providing industry-leading technology solutions to high-profile organizations for more than 13 years. With deep industry knowledge and experience in creating valuable enterprise document management, integration, and collaboration solutions for progressive companies in the life sciences, pharmaceutical, financial services, and publishing industries, Wingspan is a respected partner to many leaders in global business.

Contact:

Troy Deck
610.941.6500
tdeck@wingspan.com